Dear Sir or Madam:

Everyday someone in our community loses their sight. That person might be your neighbor, your grandparent or your friend. Someday it might be you.

It may be that they still have some sight but any loss of vision presents challenges.

The ability to read the newspaper, magazines or novels is something most of us take for granted.

Over the last 45 years The Recording Library of West Texas has been helping people with visual, physical, and reading impairments by providing them with access to print material through audio recordings. Our volunteer readers have given them education, entertainment, knowledge and hope.

You can help by making a contribution to these programs.

- The Telephone Reader system provides recordings of the Midland Reporter Telegram, and many other periodicals. They are also available as pod casts on our website.
- Books and Texas Monthly Magazine are recorded and distributed to over 20 thousand Texans through the Texas State Library's Talking Book Program.
- Custom recordings of Textbooks, Sunday School lessons and books are recorded for local listeners.

No listener is ever charged a fee for a recording.

Please join me in supporting the Recording Library of West Texas.

Sincerely,

Glenn Pitchford
President, Board of Directors
